Agust Thorkelsson

Founder & CEO Sideline Sports

"We are big believers in keeping it simple. In the power of data in sports, and how much coaches can do with the right information at your fingertips. Our priorities have always been the same: Provide great service, build the best data-driven products in the business, and have fun! For our coaches and sports teams across the world, XPS Network is like a lighthouse - it helps them navigate."

What is Sideline Sports?

Founded in 2001, Sideline Sports started with a team of three. Now we are a company with 30 employees, working with over 2,000 clubs and sports teams in 92 countries. We ensure coaches and teams are better organised, benefit from more effective communication, and have access to key coaching data that drives smarter decision-making.

Our main product, XPS Network, has earned the long-term trust of thousands of customers, including some of the world's largest — and smallest — sports clubs and organizations. We are proud of our success and will continue to raise the bar, creating and providing cutting-edge and easy-to-use software for coaches in every sport, all around the world. Join us on this journey! We feel we are just getting started.
